11 Said article is further amended by adding a new Code section immediately following Code

13 "9-10-150.1.

14 (a) It shall be the duty of the judge of any trial court of this state to continue, postpone, or 15 recess, on or without motion, any case in the court when any party thereto or such party's 16 attorney shall, when the case is reached, be absent from the court by reason of such party's 17 presiding as a judge or recorder in another court or if lead counsel in such case shall be 18 absent by reason of his or her service presiding as a judge or recorder in another court. Any 19 such continuance shall last during the entire day or days in conflict with such other court, 20 plus a reasonable time thereafter to allow the affected party or attorney to refresh and 21 prepare, but not less than one day, unless the party, in the absence of the party's attorney, 22 or the attorney, in the absence of the party, shall, on the call of the case, announce ready 23 for trial; provided, however, that where there are several attorneys engaged by a party, a 24 continuance shall be granted upon a showing by the party or the other counsel that the 25 absent counsel is necessary or desirable for the proper handling of the case. It shall be the 26 duty of a party or attorney relying on this Code section to give notice of such conflict to the 27 judge of the trial court in which such party or attorney is scheduled to appear and all 28 opposing counsel 48 hours in advance of the call of the trial calendar or the call of the case 29 for trial.

30 (b) The party or attorney relying on this Code section may only rely on this Code section 31 to obtain three continuances, postponements, or recesses, unless such party or attorney 32 avers that he or she has made efforts to find a qualified substitute for his or her judicial 33 duties and such efforts have not been successful, which averment without more shall be 34 sufficient for granting the continuance."

SECTION 3.

Code Section 17-8-26 of the Official Code of Georgia Annotated, relating to grounds for continuance for members of the General Assembly and the attendance of a party or attorney, is amended by striking said Code section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

When a case, motion, hearing, or argument is called and is subject to a continuance or stay under this Code section due to the party's attorney's membership in the General Assembly, the party shall not be required to be present at the call of the case, motion, hearing, or argument. Unless a shorter length of time is requested by the member, the continuance and stay shall last the length of any regular or extraordinary session of the General Assembly, during any legislative committee meetings held any other time of the year, and during the first three weeks following any recess or adjournment, including an adjournment sine die of any regular or extraordinary session. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, rule of court, or administrative rule or regulation, and to the extent permitted by the Constitutions of the United States and of the State of Georgia, the time for doing any act in the case which is delayed by the continuance or stay provided by this Code section shall be automatically extended by the same length of time as the continuance or stay covered."
