3 WHEREAS, the Sheltering Arms Early Education and Family Centers in Atlanta, Georgia,
4 were founded in 1888 when a group of Atlanta women formed a sewing circle to mend
5 clothing for needy children and while delivering clothes, discovered a child tied to a bedpost
6 as a safety measure while the mother worked long hours in a mill and, determined to help 7 these children, the women began a mission to care for them; and

8 WHEREAS, today Sheltering Arms is the oldest, largest, and most respected nonprofit child 9 development program in Atlanta serving more than 3,600 children and their families from 10 diverse socioeconomic and ethnic backgrounds; and

11 WHEREAS, the Sheltering Arms program empowers families and strengthens communities 12 by providing quality, affordable early childhood education and child care and comprehensive 13 family support; and

14 WHEREAS, the quality of care provided by Sheltering Arms is demonstrated by the fact that 15 approximately 92 percent of the children graduating from the Sheltering Arms' 16 centers 16 each year meet or exceed kindergarten readiness requirements; and

17 WHEREAS, on May 25, 2005, under the direction and loving guidance of Director Sally 18 Campbell, the Sheltering Arms Early Education and Family Centers in Atlanta were 19 designated as a "Quality Initiative Program of Excellence" by the National Head Start 20 Association; and

21 WHEREAS, this designation is a prestigious honor awarded to only a few early learning 22 programs nation wide; and

1 WHEREAS, due to the perseverance and dedication of people like Director Sally Campbell,
