A RESOLUTION

1 Creating the Senate Telecommunications Comprehensive Reform Study Committee; and for 2 other purposes.

3 WHEREAS, the adoption of the Telecommunications Competition and Development Act of 5 development by encouraging investments in advanced telecommunications technologies, 6 embracing a new regulatory model, and assuring reasonably priced access to services 7 demanded by consumers; and

8 WHEREAS, a manifestation of the success of the 1995 Act is the fact that according to the 9 January, 2009 "High-Speed Services for Internet Access Report" released by the Federal 10 Communications Commission, the State of Georgia continues to lead the nation in the 11 availability of broadband services; and

12 WHEREAS, advanced telecommunications continue to be vital to the state's economic 13 growth and development, research, education, health care, and other vital services; and

14 WHEREAS, the State of Georgia can continue to lead the nation and enhance 15 telecommunications through the adoption of thoughtful and comprehensive reforms which 16 have taken into account technological advancements, the evolution of the marketplace, the 17 necessity of multijurisdictional coordination and cooperation, and the complexity of the 18 telecommunications industry in Georgia today; and

19 WHEREAS, the State of Georgia would once again benefit from the creation of a Senate 20 Telecommunications Comprehensive Reform Study Committee similar to what it did in 21 1994; and

22 WHEREAS, a Senate Telecommunications Comprehensive Reform Study Committee would 23 provide the appropriate vehicle through which the State of Georgia can identify the 25 the state is positioned to enhance and embrace a vibrant telecommunications industry and
