10 corporations organized for religious, fraternal, or educational purposes, is amended by adding 11 a new Code section to read as follows:

12 "14-5-46.1.

13 The State of Georgia shall not favor or give preferential treatment to any particular 14 ecclesiastical rule or ecclesiastical mode of government with regard to determining the 15 property rights of religious organizations. This state adopts the neutral principles analysis
16 set forth by the United States Supreme Court in the case of Jones v. Wolf, 443 U.S. 595 17 (1979), as the method by which the courts of this state shall resolve cases involving the 18 property rights of religious organizations. Following a rule of strict religious neutrality, 19 property rights of religious organizations shall be determined by a neutral examination of 20 all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, the terms of the legal instruments
21 conveying the property in question; the corporate or organizational documents of the title
22 owner; generally applicable state corporation, property, and trust laws, including the laws 23 and requirements with regard to the creation of trusts, either express or implied, that shall 24 apply equally to all; and the property rules of ecclesiastical entities to the extent such rules 25 do not conflict with generally applicable state law."
